

W. C. Weaver Jr. At Sea on U. S. Maritime Cruise

W. C. Weaver, Jr., 1445 218th st., Torrance, was getting his sea legs today aboard the "American Seafarer," according to a report from Commander William E. Porter, U.S. M.S., who commands the trim, gray-clad 8,000 ton U. S. Maritime Service training ship. The two weeks cruise out into the blue Pacific climaxes Weaver's apprentice seaman training begun at the U. S. Maritime Service training station on famous Catalina Island. Emphasizing the vital need for merchant seaman, Captain Porter said just before sailing that never in her long career has the "American Seafarer" filled a more important assignment than this one of supplying actual sea experience to new men. And the men themselves agreed that the Maritime Service offered a swell opportunity to men from 17 to 50 a chance to help deliver the goods to the fellows overseas and at the same time get started on an exciting post-war career.

Lions Hear of Big Development For This Area

Torrance Lions club members yesterday heard Woodrow W. Wilson, prominent Southwest realtor, declare that the Los Angeles harbor area is destined to become the most densely populated and prosperous district of the United States.

He based his prediction on the movement westward of the population over a period of years, and on the fact that the whole emphasis of the war will be on the West coast after the collapse of Germany. Further, he declared, Los Angeles harbor with its water transportation is some 225 miles closer to mid-West and eastern markets than any other West Coast port.

Wilson was a guest of President Harry B. Lewis, who announced that the club has expanded to a point where it must move from the auditorium annex into the main Civic auditorium.

N. H. Cucci, member of the club, announced plans for a

Night Life Has Little Effect On This City

The new ban on night life issued recently by the government, doesn't affect Torrance as most of the businesses here closed before midnight prior to the order.

The very few establishments this order affects, when asked by the Torrance Herald, said that the closedown order was more helpful than harmful to them because of the shortage of help and materials on hand.

Lions sponsored project to take care of veterans returning here, to provide them with sleeping quarters temporarily. He said eight beds are being provided and suggested other service clubs might cooperate in the plan.

Guests at the meeting was deputy district governor William C. Eagen, of the Los Angeles club, Walter Keefe, W. H. Buffington and Gene Show, of Inglewood.

The Palos Verdes Country club has been reserved for the charter night dinner and dance, President Lewis announced.
